

A close-up photograph of a wooden furniture joint, likely a chair leg or armrest. The wood is a rich, dark brown with a prominent grain. The joint is a complex, multi-layered structure, possibly a dovetail or a similar traditional joinery technique. The lighting is warm and focused, highlighting the texture and craftsmanship of the wood.

furniture collection by
FERNANDA CANALES

The EMBRACING WALL redefines the notion of a fireplace, transforming a typically massive, static architectural element into a dynamic piece. With its upward-lifting top and unfolding side doors, the piece transitions from a solid volume to an active presence.

